Competence (or skill) is an individual mobilizing a certain number of resources (personal capacities or external), in a working environment, in a given context, in order to perform (or to reach objectives).